Hi Parents!

Summer is over, and the first day of school is here! I am looking forward to a great year. It was delightful to meet almost all of you during Meet the Teacher and Early Goal Setting Conferences last week. If you were not able to make it, please complete the forms sent home.

During the first week of school, we concentrate on making new friends, setting classroom expectations, and establishing routines. It can be hard to transition from summer to a scheduled school day. While we will work hard, we will take many breaks to ease this transition. If the weather cooperates this week, we may be able to get outside for an extra recess or two. At home, please try to set a schedule for your child. We do not have any homework this week, but that does not mean your child cannot sit down after school and write a letter to a teacher or work on some math problems. I love mail!

Please remember to check your child's folder daily and initial his/her communication sheet in the appropriate place. In addition, circle how many minutes your child has read that evening. Check the other side of this communication sheet for things to ask your child about his/her school day. Mark your calendars for Parent Information Night on Thursday, September 13 at 5:30 p.m. I will be able to answer any questions you may have about second grade at that time. If you have questions before then, jot them in the space above, leave me a voicemail (651-621-7670), or send me an email (Amy.TerEick@moundviewschools.org).

Have a great week!
Amy
